The Kalaunu is a national symbol of Hama'Lu. It is mostly given to children at their birth by their parents as a way to wish them a happy and healthy life filled with love, happiness and peace.

The design of the Kalaunu is quite simple in the beginning: just a simple bead that is adjusted to the shape of the head. As the children grow up, the Kalaunu grows with them.

Because of the thriving jewellery industry in Hama'Lu, there are lots of ways to customize the Kalaunu to your individual preferences. However, it is important to note that the Kalaunu isn't just for the Hama'Luans, but also for tourists who wish to indulge themselves into Hama'Lu's culture.

The Kalaunu is mostly worn for special occasions, like births, 21st birthdays and national holidays.
